From Hope Lost to Hope Found: Mental Health Treatment, Then, Now and Going Forward

Join 3 professionals as they discuss and answer questions about the long journey from our dead-end state psychiatric hospital warehouses to living successfully with mental illness in our own communities.

Lucy Winer, a film maker and former Kings Park patient who created the documentary, Kings Park: Stories From an American Institution, will reference her film as she candidly discusses the experiences of patients and staff in this former Long Island psychiatric hospital.

Katherine Tollefsen, Program Coordinator for the Recovery Center East, who has been both a recipient and provider of mental health services, will discuss new initiatives to engage individuals in their recovery.

Kristie Golden, PhD, of Stony Brook School of Medicine Dept. of Psychiatry, will explain the developing models of care that will integrate mental health services into primary care settings and address the person as a whole not just a mental illness - Integrated Behavioral Health Services.
