

THE FIRST EVER DOCUMENTARY ABOUT LIVING WITH BORDERLINE PERSONALITY DISORDER

BORDERLINE

"A feel good movie true to its feel bad subject" - Boston Globe

(a Film)

"Piercing, maddening and riotously funny. You can't take your eyes off Regina" - Village Voice

The first time Regina tried to kill herself she was 5 years old. Now she is 45 years old and hell-bent on trying to live - most of the time.

Director Rebbie Ratner, given a BPD diagnosis in 2011 (and now in recovery), will present the film and answer questions following. Telling this story disrupts the misinformation that silences and encircles this diagnosis. This viewing experience and personal perspective aims to help others.

Sunday, May 19
2pm - 4pm

Stony Brook Southampton Hospital Parrish Hall,
(Corner of Herrick Road and Lewis Street)

Presented by the
